Director's Report:

The start of the season is starting off very well with this great group of kids. Right now they are learning the start of the show and we have noticed that their difficulty level of music has increased. We are pleased to welcome Martha as our new fine arts secretary. Parents please reach out to me if you need to and if you are unable to get a hold of me you can contact Martha and she can relay the message. Ground breaking for the new band hall will take place in December and we will share the floor plans with you around that time. The topic of a band trip has come up but has not be decided on where yet. As soon as we know where the trip will be we will let everyone know. The weekly emails will be sent out on Mondays instead of Sundays this year.
